BRYAN TELLS ROOSEVELT WHAT HE SHOULD DO

Lincoln, Neb., June 5.—Using tomorrow's issue of his paper as a medium, W. J. Bryan addresses a letter to President Roosevelt, urging him to cause criminal proceedings to be started against the alleged beef trust. Incidentally Bryan declares the President a courageous man. He begins by quoting the provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law and continues:

"You are the Chief Executive of this Nation, and as such are not only empowered, but are required to enforce the law. By commencing civil action against the members of the beef trust you declared that the members of that trust are, in your opinion, guilty of a violation of the law. Why do you hesitate to commence criminal action? The penalty fixed in the statute is insignificant compared with the penalty prescribed for the violation of less important statutes. If the members of the beef trust have raised the price of meat 1 cent per pound they have laid a tax of millions of dollars upon the people of the United States.

"Civil suits may annoy the captains of industry, but if you are going to shackle cunning you will have to shackle it with criminal laws. The prison cell will prove more effective in the prevention of monopoly than judgments or decrees for the payment of money. You have a chance to show that you were in earnest when you made that Minneapolis speech."

WHAT BOERS ACCEPT

PEACE TERMS FAVORABLE TO THE STURDY FIGHTERS

For a Time Will Be Under Military Government—Dutch To Be Taught In the Schools—Can Keep Arms.

London, June 2.—The peace terms, as formally announced in the House of Commons today, are as follows:

His Excellency, Lord Milner, his Excellency, Mr. Steyn, General Brenner, General C. R. De Wet and Judge Hertzog, acting in behalf of the Orange Free State; and General Schalk-Burger, Reitz, Generals Louis Botha and General Delarey, acting for their respective burghers, desiring to terminate the present hostilities, agree to the following terms:

First—The burghers forces in the field will forthwith lay down their arms and hand over all their guns, rifles and ammunition in their possession or under their control, desist from further resistance, and acknowledge King Edward VII as their lawful sovereign. The manner and details of this surrender will be arranged between Lord Kitchener and Commandant General Botha, assisted by General Delarey and Chief Commandant De Wet.

Second—All burghers outside the limits of the Transvaal and Orange River Colony, and all prisoners of war at present outside South Africa, who are burghers will, on duly declaring their acceptance of the position of subjects of his majesty, be brought back to their homes as soon as means of transport can be provided and means of subsistence assured.

Third—The burghers so returning will not be deprived of their personal liberty or property.

Fourth—No proceeding, civil or criminal, will be taken against any burghers surrendered or returning for any acts in connection with the prosecution of the war. The benefits of this clause do not extend to certain acts contrary to the usages of war, which shall be tried by court martial after the close of hostilities.

Fifth—The Dutch language will be taught in the public schools of the Transvaal and Orange River Colony, where the parents desire it, and will be allowed in the courts of law, for the better and more effectual administration of justice.

Sixth—Possession of rifles will be allowed in the Transvaal and Orange River Colony to persons requiring them for their protection, on taking out a license according to law.

Seventh—The military administration of the Transvaal and Orange River Colony will, at the earliest possible date, be succeeded by a civil government, and, as soon as circumstances permit, representative institutions leading up to self-government will be introduced.

Eighth—The question of granting the franchise to natives will not be decided until after the introduction of self-government.

Ninth—No special tax will be imposed on land property in the Transvaal or Orange River Colony to defray the expenses of the war.

Tenth—As soon as the conditions permit it, a commission, on which the local inhabitants will be represented, will be appointed in each district of the Transvaal and Orange River Colony, under the supervision of a magistrate or otherwise, for the purpose of assisting people to their homes and for those who are not able to provide for themselves, etc., indispensable to the resumption of their normal occupations. His Majesty's Government will place at the disposal of these commissions the sum of three million pounds sterling, and will allow all the notes issued under the law of 1900 of the South African Republic and all receipts given up to officers in the field of the late republics, or under their orders, to be presented to a judicial commission, which will be appointed by the Government, and if such notes and receipts are found by this commission to have been duly issued, in return for valuable

GEN. BROOKE RETIRED AS LIEUTENANT GENERAL

Washington, June 4.—The Senate today passed the bill providing for the promotion of General John R. Brooke to the rank of Lieutenant General, and authorizing his retirement with that rank. There was no debate on the measure.

General Brooke is 64 years old and a native of Pennsylvania. When Lincoln issued his call Brooke went to the war as a captain in a three months' regiment. At the end of his term he was made Colonel of the Fifty-third Pennsylvania, and in 1864 he was elevated to the rank of Brigadier General. He was specifically honored for "distinguished services during the battles of Gettysburg and Antietam."

After the war, when the Army was reorganized, Brooke was commissioned Lieutenant Colonel in the regular service. In 1878 he was made a Colonel and in 1888 Brigadier General, with command of the Department of the Plateau. He was made Major General in 1897 and transferred to the Department of the Missouri. President McKinley appointed Brooke as the first Military Governor of Cuba, in which position he was succeeded in December, 1899, by General Leonard Wood. He is now commander of the Department of the East, with headquarters at Governor's Island, New York.

considerations, they will be received by the first-named commissions as evidence of war losses suffered by the persons to which they were originally given.

In addition to the above named free grant of three million pounds sterling, his majesty's Government will be prepared to make advances or loans, for the same purposes, free of interest for two years, and afterwards repayable, over a period of years, with 3 per cent interest. No foreigner or rebel will be entitled to benefit under this clause.

After he had concluded reading the peace agreement, Balfour proceeded: "There are certain points not dealt with in the document I have just read, and which was signed on Saturday. Therefore, it may be convenient if I read a dispatch from Lord Kitchener to the Secretary of State for War, dated May 26th, as follows:

"After handing the Boer delegates a copy of the draft of the agreement, I read them a statement and gave them a copy of it, as follows:

"His majesty's Government must place on record that the treatment of the Cape and Natal colonists who have been in rebellion and who now surrender will, if they return to their colonies, be determined by the colonial courts and in accordance with the laws of the colonies, and any British subjects who have joined the enemy will be liable to trial under the law of that part of the British empire to which they belong.

"His majesty's Government is improved."

ADVICE TO YOUNG BASE-BALL PLAYERS

BY CONNIE MACK,

Manager of the Philadelphia American League Club.

Individual Players Often Prove a Big Detriment to Club.

Reputation in base running is a valuable asset for any player to possess. He will be able to keep both catcher and pitcher on the qui vive and bother the basemen very much. Young players desiring to become proficient in base running and sliding would do well to watch closely the work of those players who are well known as expert base runners and whose move no man makes, every effort to deceive the players should be given strict attention, and every action after he reaches first base should not be allowed to escape observation. It is seldom an expert expends energy unnecessarily. He will nearly always have an object in view, and much valuable information can be gathered by careful observation.

The world at large must have a leader. Art, science, business, politics, statesmanship, as well as sports and pastimes, recognize one or more leaders. In the majority of instances the leader will be followed and copied. This same ruling applies to baseball. By following the work of a leader in base running and sliding the player can in time equal his work and often excel it.

There are certain stages in a game when it is advisable not to attempt to steal a base. When a number of runs are needed to tie the score or win the game, no attempt should be made. There are two strong reasons against it. First, a player has no right to take chances in a case of this kind, as it would not do his side much good and might possibly work material harm; and, second, the liability of injuries is so great that it may deprive his club of his services should he meet with an accident. A player should always consider his club before his own individual playing, and in so doing should weigh the chances of incapacity before taking them.

Many players insist upon running bases recklessly when the score is so one-sided that it cannot possibly do their club any good. This is to figure at the end of the season as one of the leading base runners. This man according to individual records is superior to those players who have less stolen bases to their credit, but the latter have a far better team record by reason of the fact that they did not take any chances unless the conditions required them to do so.
